Between 1950 and 1953 some 18,000 Australians served as part of a multinational United Nations force in the Korean War. Following the armistice in July 1953, Australians continued to serve in a peacekeeping capacity until 1957. More than 330 Australians were killed or lost their lives as a result of their service in Korea.